

EXCURSIONS AND SIGHTSEEING

General information: All tours start from Ulan Bator. You can set off for the excursion either from your accommodation or on your arrival from the train station if the timetable permits. You don't need sleeping bags for the nights in gers. It is good to take warm clothes and thermo-underwear as there are usually high temperature amplitudes within 24 hours.

The camps are of gers or yurts that are made of canvas and felt as bricks and wood obviously are scarce in the nomad living areas. A ger can be built up in 3 or 4 hours (depending on its size) and usually are more comfortable than they might look on first sight, although they don't have electricity or water (apart from the ones in urban areas). Ger camps often have a bath house and a toilet, serving the whole camp. Gers are usually equipped with a wood or dung fuelled stove, that is used for both cooking and heating. The internal setup of the ger is universal in whole Mongolia by tradition. The stove is located in the middle, as it has a pipe through the ger's roof. Nomadic people who live in gers are very welcoming people, although for a foreigner it will be hard to communicate with them, especially as nomads have many rituals and are very superstitious people.

MNG-9: Gobi-safari including Kharkorin and Hustai National Park (7 days)

This tour is a version of MNG-6 but it takes you also southwards to the Gobi-desert. You will pass appr. 1490 km through extremely various landscapes – from lush green grass steppes and canyonlike rock formations to dry desert and steppe landscape. All overnights are in ger-tents (traditional Mongolian round felt tents, in each sleep up to 4 people). Four of the nights are in the so called ger-camps which are made for tourists and equipped with toilet, shower and dining facilities. Two of the nights (day 2 and 3) are in similar tents (gers) set up next to real nomad families where the conditions are more primitive. You stay together with the nomad families where there is no possibility for shower with running water and the toilet is a hole on the ground. But this is a unique chance to feel the experience of the real Mongolia!

Day 1: From Ulan Bator appr. 280 km southwards to Ih Garzyn Chuluu in Dundgov province. Overnight in ger-camp. Day 2: Further to the south to Dalanzadgad (280 km south), the capital of South Gobi (Omnogov). Overnight in a felt tent next to a real nomad family close to Eagle Valey. Day 3: Tour to the highlight of this area: Eagle Valey which is a mountain region with a narrow gorge in the middle of the desert. Here you can see eagles and wild goats. Overnight with the same family as day 2. Day 4: Further to the north (appr. 270 km) to Bayanzag ("Flaming Cliffs") through the area where most of the dinosaurs' skeletons in Gobi were found. Overnight in ger-camp close to Ongi (Dundgov province). Day 5: Further to Kharkorin (245 km) with a visit to the monastery (see MNG-6). Day 6: Further to Hustai National Park (see MNG-6). 280 km. Day 7: Transport to Ulan Bator (80 km).

This tour is a version of MNG-6 but it takes you also in the central part of Mongolia which is rich in grass-steppes areas, mountains and wild rivers. The overnights are in ger-tents (traditional Mongolian round felt tents, in each sleep up to 4 people). Four of the nights are in the so called ger-camps which are made for tourists and equipped with toilet, shower and dining facilities. Two of the nights (day 2 and 3) are in similar tents (gers) set up next to real nomad families where the conditions are more primitive. You stay together with the nomad families where there is no possibility for shower with running water and the toilet is a hole on the ground. But this is a unique chance to feel the experience of the real Mongolia!

Day 1: From Ulan Bator to the beautiful lake Ogii Nuur which is a wonderful place for birdlife (350 km). Overnight in ger-camp. Day 2: Continue to the southwest towards Tsetserleg, the capital of Arkhangai. Further along the Tamir River to the extinct volcano Khorgo and the Khorgo Lake (The White Lake). Here is the accommodation in felt tent (ger) next to a real nomad family 2 km away from the lake. Appr. 300 km drive. Day 3: You can climb the volcano, swim in the lake or walk around. The rest of the day you are together with the family and follow their everyday life. The picnic lunch will be prepared by the nomad family on the shore of the lake, a traditional Mongolian BBQ if the weather permits. Day 4: We leave the nomad family and drive eastwards to Tsetserleg. Overnight in ger-camp close to the hot springs Tsenkher. You have free time to take a bath in the hot springs, relax or walk in the splendid nature around. Day 5: Further eastwards to Kharkorin, where you stay in ger-camp and see the old monastery (see MNG-6).
